A Long Way to Travel for Your Dinner

This is an Arctic tern (крячка). It is not a very big bird. It is only about six inches (16 centimetres) from its bright red beak to its tail. But soon this small bird will begin a wonderful journey. It will fly from one end of the Earth to the other – a journey of about 12,000 miles (18,000 kilometres).

The tern spends the summer in the Arctic, but it cannot spend the winter there. It is too cold and there is no food. If the turns stays in the Arctic, it will die.

In autumn the Arctic tern will leave the North Pole and fly south across the equator to the South Pole. When spring comes again in the northern hemisphere, the tern will come back to the Arctic.

How do this small birds make this wonderful journey? We don't know the answer. Perhaps they use the sun, the moon and the stars as a compass. If it is cloudy or foggy, the birds will not migrate. In its life, an Arctic tern travels as far as to the moon and back. That's a long way to travel for your dinner!

Mark the sentences (1-7) as T (true) or F (false):

- 1) An Arctic tern is a very big bird.

2) The tern can't spend the winter in the Arctic.

3) There is nothing to eat in Arctic in the winter.

4) The tern will come back to Arctic, when the spring comes again in the northern hemisphere.

5) Perhaps, these birds use the sun, the moon, and the stars as a compass.

6) The birds will migrate only when it is foggy or cloudy.

7) An Arctic tern travels to the moon for its dinner.
